Charlie Hux Killed Day Before Truce

Pfc. Charlie E. Hux, 22, was killed in action in Korea the day before the armistice was signed. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. August Hux of near Milano.

Mr. and Mrs. Hux received official word from the government at 5:30 p. m. Friday that their son had been killed in Korean fighting on Saturday, July 25.

Pfc. Hux was a tank driver with the 140th Tank Batallion. He had been in the Army for about a year and had been sent overseas in April. Prior to overseas shipment, he was stationed at Fort Hood.

Young Hux was raised on his father's farm near Milano and attended the Milano school. He had worked for several years before entering the Army.

Survivors are his parents; one brother, Garland Hux of near Milano; five sisters, Berenda Hux of near Milano, Mrs. Alden Swenson of Austin, Mrs. Jack Marrs of Austin, Mrs. Bernard Zalesky of Cameron, and Mrs. Edwin Poshival of Arizona. He was the nephew of Mrs. Leonard Baldwin of Cameron.

Cotton Damaged By Fire In Compress Warehouse

Twenty-five bales of cotton were damaged in a fire which broke out about 9 p. m. Friday night in a Cameron Compress Company warehouse. Three hundred additional bales were water-soaked.

The fire was reported between 9:30 and 10 p. m. by Mrs. Jim Angell who lives near the warehouse which is the one next to the Temple highway. The Cameron Fire Department answered the call but the blaze was extinguished by the automatic sprinkler system within the building.

Cotton from the twenty-five bales will be salvaged, for only 20% damage was reported. The 300 wet bales will be dried out. The cotton involved was government-loan cotton from West Texas.

Sheriff Carl C. Black and the sheriff's department are investigating the fire. The blaze began next to the wall in the middle of the west side. Sheet iron had been pulled up from the side of the building. Water from the sprinkler system soaked the surrounding ground, making the discovery of footprints impossible. The investigation continued Saturday.

City of Cameron Wins Safety Award For No Traffic Fatalities in 1952

John Andres, city councilman, announced Tuesday that the City of Cameron has received a safety award from the Texas Department of Public Safety.

This award is presented to any city in Texas which does not have a traffic fatality for one year. Patrolman John Blansit, Highway Patrol, reports that few cities have qualified, which makes Cameron's record of no fatalities for 1952 an accomplishment of which the city can be justly proud.

Presentation of the Safety award plaque will be made to Mayor Horstmann, in behalf of the citizens of Cameron, by Captain E. K. Browning, Sergeant Bill White and Patrolman W. R. Merrideth, all of the Austin District of the Highway Patrol.

The presentation ceremonies will take place during the weekly band concert by the Yoe High School High Band on Thursday night, August 13, at 8 p. m.

Everyone is urged to attend the ceremonies and band concert so that Cameron may show its pride appeciation for this outstanding award.

Oxsheer Smith At Hearing On Railroad Spur

Oxsheer Smith, president of the Citizens National Bank of Cameron, sent word to the Cameron Chamber of Commerce that he attended the recent Interstate Commerce Commission Committee hearing on the Southern Pacific Railroad application to extend service to the Alcoa Plant at Rockdale.

Smith reports that Judge Kieke, speaking to the committee in behalf of the citizens along the Southern Pacific route from Waco to Giddings, pointed out that failure to allow the requested extension would probably cause abandonment of the Southern Pacific Railroad from Waco to Giddings. Loss of this line would have an economical effect on Cameron and Milam County and leave most of the area now served completely without direct rail service.

A decision by the Interstate Commerce Commission regarding this case is expected possibly within six weeks.

Rate Hike Asked By Southwestern Bell Telephone

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company stirred up a hornet's nest in Cameron Tuesday night when they went before the city council to ask for another rate hike.

According to C. L. Carson, manager for the company, they have shown a loss during the first six months of 1953 amounting to $5,-144. This is for service supplied by the local exchange.

The telephone company wants to raise business phones from $7.50 to $9; residence, one-party phones, from $3.75 to $5; residence two-party phones, from $3.25 to $4; and residence four-party phones, from $2.75 to $3.25.

"These rates are needed to meet today's higher cost and place our operations here on a sound financial basis," Carson said.

Sentiments in the city council seem to run generally against any rate increase. Milton Schiller stated that he was definitely against it at the present time, but that he might vote with the telephone company should they put in a dial system without any additional increase in rates. He stated that he believed there would be no loss in total salaries in Cameron due to the higher pay of specially trained technicians to maintain a dial system.

Gene Blake stated he was not prepared to take a definite stand at this time. According to Blake, there has not been sufficient time to test public sentiment and public sentiment should be the deciding factor in how he votes.

Alderman J. C. Andres took a definite stand on the issue and told a Herald reporter that he was strongly against any rate increase. He stated that there have been two hikes in the past three years an the public had taken all they would stand.

Alderman Robert Weems took about the same stand as Andres but also added that any rate increase would be definitely inflationary and that most people felt that things were on the way down instead of on the way up. Any increase would be out of line, he stated.

Councilman B. Slocomb statted that he felt the telephone company had not given their present rates a fair test. He felt

A final appeal is being made to all of Milam County for donations. Maize is to be taken to the grain warehouse of Jesse Kirk Jr. in Cameron, and cash is to be be sent to Rev. Another high gin report was 60 bales Tuesday night at the Ben Arnold Gin.

Cameron gins are not up to the production level of those in outlying communities, but Matyastik and Son have ginned 19 bales; Farmer's Gin Co., about 10 bales; and Weems' Gin, 6 bales.

A farm labor bulletin from the Texas Employment Commission notes that 150 cotton pickers will be needed in Milam County beginning August 10. Migrant workers are already arriving in Cameron, seeking work.

U. S. Department Of Agriculture Offers Children's Patterns

Nena Roberson, clothing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says seasonal clothing may be made more cheaply at home for children's quick growth causes quick discard.

Clothing made along the same style during the training period is less confusing to the child. By multiple cutting, the mother can cut two or more garments by the same pattern. This would be especially good for play clothes such as shorts and overalls, using different fabrics with the same basic color used in the design so the same thread can be used. The garments can be styled differently by adding or omitting certain decorative details.

For other information on making children's clothing, ask your county home demonstration agent for a copy of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Leaflets No. 255 DRESSES DESIGNED FOR LITTLE GIRLS, and No. 251 CHILD'S SELF-HELP OVERALL.

Beatrice Rosemond and Lucretta Price of Maysfield were admitted July 28 to Newton Memorial Hospital for medical treatment.

THE LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER TAKE OVER WORRYING GOVERNMENT FOR '54

Editor's note: The Little River Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm at Marlow may be an expert on what he's talking about but he probably has ministerpreted the government's plans, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editar:

I was napping out here yesterday afternoon on a couch on the front porch when a flutterin noice woke me up and I slapped at what I thought was a wasp but found out it was a newspaper which a puff of wind had dropped over my face and the steady risin and fallin off the paper as I snored was what was makin the flappin noise, and since I was awake by then and the paper was at hand I lifted it off my face far enough away to get it in focus and still stay stretched out and read where Washington is now worried over what to do with an estimated 25 million idle acres next year if crop controls go into effect.

Is I understand it, us farmers have produced so much stuff the Secretary of Agriculture will be required to reduce the number of acres that can be planted to wheat, cotton and maybe other crops next year in order to make the price support program work, and Washington is scratchin its head and ponderin on the problem of what to do with the acres that'll be left idle.

Washington is sure straining a point to find something to worry about. It just imagines idle acres will bother anybody. Maybe it's true at first the thought of some idle acres will bother some farmers too, but out of years of experience I can report if a man has the strength of character he can get used to seein idle acres all around him and in time it ain't no more worry about than fearing the sun won't come up in the mornin.

In fact, as an expert in handlin idle acres, I will be glad to take over the whole 25 million myself, if Washington can't think of anything else to do with em, and I will guarantee not an acre of it will be planted to wheat, cotton, corn, or any other crop the government wants to hold production down on. If holdin down production is what it takes to keep agriculture on an even keel, I'm the man they've been lookin for, and I don't mind sayin I feel pretty good about the whole thing. I've been criticized from certain quarters for idle-acre farmin for years, and I'm proud that the government itself has come around to my way of thinkin. acre farmin is the most satisfyin occupation there is.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Frank J. Jahn New Member of Milam FHA Committee

Frank J. Jahn, Route 1, Burlington, has recently been appointed to the Farmers Home Administration committee for Milam county, Roy Wright, local FHA supervisor, announced today. The appointment was made by L. J. Cappleman, state director at Dallas.

Jahn is a successful farmer and long-time resident of the Burlington community. His experience in purchasing and developing a successful family-type farm, Wright said, fits him well for his new assignment in aiding other farmers to do the same. He will serve three years.

Jahn succeeds James H. Majors, livestock and crop farmer of Ben Arnold, whose three-year term expired June 30. Members who continue to serve are Hugh Caffey, Route 2, Thorndale, and Ed O. Pagel of the Yarrellton community.

Wright said Mr. Hugh Caffey is chairman of the committee and will serve through next June. Majors was chairman last year.

Wright explained that the county committee must approve all applications for Farmers Home Administration credit before loans can be made. When a real estate loan is being considered to buy, enlarge, or develop a farm, or to improve housing and farm buildings, the committee also determines how much the farm is worth as security for the loan.

Advice of the committeemen is sought on good farm management and on the refinancing of Farmers Home Demonstration loans when borrowers build up enough equity in their property to get credit from local banks or other lenders, Wright added.

Farmers who can get private or cooperative credit on reasonable terms and conditions are not eligible for loans from FHA.

Red Cross Closing Some Blood Centers Since Korean Truce

As a result of the cessation of hostilities in Korea and the lowered requirements for blood derivatives, the Office of Defense Mobilization Friday announced that on the recommendation of the Health Resources Advisory Committee of the Office of Defense Mobilization, the American National Red Cross is closing on August 31, 1953, fifteen (15) of its defense blood collection centers and is terminating the contracts with seventeen (17) cooperating community blood banks which have served as collection centers for the National Blood Program.

At the same time the Office of Defense Mobilization announced that the forty-five (45) regional blood collection centers of the American Red Cross will continue in full operation to meet the continuing need for the collection of blood under the National Blood Program for defense purposes and to assist in meeting the ever-increasing requirements for blood in civilian hospitals. In addition, numerous community and hospital blood banks will devote their efforts to supplying the needs of their local hospitals.

Among the defense blood centers which will cease operation on August 31 are the ones located at Beaumont and Ft. Worth. Included in the list of cooperating blood banks whose contracts are to be terminated on August 31 is the Southwest Blood Bank of Houston.

The Red Cross will continue to collect blood in its regional blood center at Waco.

"The end of the shooting in Korea reduced the quanity of blood required for the armed forces, but it did not lessen the great need for this precious fluid for other useful purposes," stated Dr. Howard A. Rusk, chairman of the Office of Defense Mobilization Health Resourses Advisory Committee. Blood will be needed for ill or critically injured civilians, to meet any natural disaster or atomic attack, for treatment of wounded servicemen, for gamma globulin to fight polio and for serum albumin to combat shock.

Local Guard Unit Making Plans For Annual Encampment

By Lloyd Albertson

The officers and enlisted men of Battery C, 649th Anti-aircraft Artillery Battalion, it was reported Saturday, are making preparations to attend their annual two weeks of National Guard summer camp, which will be held at Fort Bliss near El Paso, Texas, this year from August 16 through August 30.

Present plans call for Battery C to join other units of the 649th Battalion in Temple on Sunday morning, August 16. There the entire Battalion will board a special train shortly after noon for the trip to El Paso. Advance details and mess sections, however, will be flown out to Fort Bliss on Thursday, August 13 by Air National Guard plane.

The Guardsmen's special train will be made up of Pullmans, baggage cars and a kitchen car for the preparation of meals en route.

On arrival at Fort Bliss, the Guardmen will be quartered in barracks and eat in mess halls. They will not have to "rough it" as in previous encampments.

The 649th Battalion will engage in its two weeks of summer field training with units of the New Mexico National Guard and with AAA units from Louisiana. The training schedule calls for the Guardsmen to conduct familarization and record firing on the range with carbines, submachine guns and rocket launchers, and also communication and maintenance training during the first week, with a big review and parade on Saturday.

Much of the second week will be spent in the field on the Oro Grande range in New Mexico where the anti-aircraft artillery gun crews will fire 40mm guns and 50 cal. machine guns at moving ground and aerial targets. The Guardsmen will return to Ft. Bliss the latter part of the week to receive their pay for training and then start the homeward trip by special train.

Although the two weeks is crowded with training activities, the schedule also allows the Guardsmen plenty of off duty time in which to take advantage of Fort Bliss's fine PX's, movie theaters and service clubs, and to visit nearby El Paso or to go across the border to colorful Juarez in Old Mexico.

An article submitted by C. L. Carson stated "The company last requested an increase in telephone rates here in October, 1951. The rates granted in June, 1952 were substantially less than those requested and were inadequate to meet the rising costs of labor and material."

When questioned about long distance service and revenue, Carson stated that this was entirely a separate business from the local exchange and could not be considered in the profit or loss of the local exchange.

Christian Round-Up Continues As Young People Take City-Wide Census

Young people attending the Christian Youth Round-Up at the First Christian Church were told last night that Christianity is still in its proving ground.

Ren Kent, student at Texas Christian University and Round-Up preacher, stated that while he did not adhere to all H. G. Wells had written he felt he was right when he said, "The trouble with Christianity is not that it won't work, but that it has never been tried." Kent went on to point out that "in the very place, suggested the young minister, is in the city of Cameron. Later he asked the young people "Is there anything wrong with trying to make a Heaven here on earth, now; in this community."

The Round-Up program continues tonight and tomorrow night in the First Presbyterian Church at 7:30 o'clock.

This afternoon the youth of the Methodist, Presbyterian, and Christian churches began a city-wide census in an effort to locate unchurched youth. Friday afternoon they will make a trip to Rockdale for a swimming party. The program is sponsored by youth for all of the community, and adults are urged to attend the sessions.

Following the preaching services each evening the parents and other interested adults have been meeting to discuss possible means of providing better religious and social opportunities for youth in this city. At the meeting tonight the group will discuss some of the practical problems involved in setting up a community-wide program for youth.

Labor Consentration Point To Be At Crossing Of Highways 36 And 77

Milam County's cotton harvest is beginning to get underway with ample labor at present, but there is expected to be a shortage with an increased demand within a week or two, after the local labor is absorbed, the Texas Employment Commision stated Thursday.

The total number of bales ginned in the county up to Tuesday was 169. This indicates that the season is well ahead of last year. Too, this year's crop is expected to surpass last year's crop by 10,000 to 15,000 bales.

Any farmer who anticipates using migrant laborers should list his demands early. The Texas Employment Commission will assist them in securing labor. At present the farmer should make known his demands at the Rockdale Texas Employment Commission, 108 North Main Street in Rockdale.

On Monday, August 10, the concentration point east of Cameron at the intersection of Highways 36 and 77 will open. It will be operated by Max McClaren of Cameron. Any farmer needing laborers might list his needs with McClaren.

The Texas Employment Commission also receives information on the availability of mechanical cotton pickers. Any farmer who desires to have his cotton machine-picked might contact the TEC at Rockdale for further information.

Miss Wallye Jean Robbins And Ted Day Exchange Wedding Vows

Before an arch entwined with green foliage and bouquets of oleanders Miss Wallye Jean Robbins exchanged wedding vows with Ted Day Saturday evening at seven o'clock. Rev. H. M. Bowley performed the double ring ceremony at the Full Gospel Tabernacle.

Potted ferns and ivy further enhansed the setting of greenery.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Robbins of Cameron. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Day of Layton, Utah.

Mrs. Johnnie Sue Fikes presented traditional wedding music and Miss Evelyn Whittington sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length wedding gown of pink brocaded nylon, designed with a full skirt and closely fitted bodice. Her crown of tiny rosebuds and her lace mitts were of a matching pink shade. She carried a lavender orchid.

Miss Minnie Earl Whittington served as maid of honor. Her dress of blue organdy was complemented by a white carnation corsage.

Chuck Windsor of Austin was best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Nila Jean Gilbert presided at the guest book.

The bride's table, lace-covered, was centered with a rectangular four-tiered wedding cake. On the top tier stood a miniature bridal couple beneath an arch from which hung a tiny silver bell.

Miss Evelyn Whittington cut the wedding cake and Miss Leila Ray Clark served the punch.

The couple left for a honeymoon in Layton, Utah, and planned to visit other places of interest on the trip.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Day will make their home at 1609 North Congress in Austin.

Mrs. Day is a graduate of Yoe High School. She attended Durham Business College of Austin, completing the executive secretarial course of study. She then accepted a position with the State Board of Control at the State Capitol in Austin. She began her duties with the board on December 3, 1951 and still holds her position as secretary.

Mr. Day attended Davis High School in Layton, Utah. Before entering the service he was employed at Hill Air Force Base. He entered the Air Force on January 24, 1952 at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio. After his basic training he was transferred to Austin where he is now stationed at the Inspection Section of Base Supply as Tech Order File Clerk.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Duncam of Killeen, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pieskee and daughter, Wanda, of Belton, Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Frisby of Temple, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Muller of Austin and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hertenberger and children of Texas City.

HDC Council Elects Delegates to State HD Club Convention

The Milam County Home Demonstration Council met Monday, July 27 with the chairman, Mrs. Hugh Wimberly, presiding. Thirty-seven ladies were present.

The Council and all clubs are to elect officers in September.

After the Council adjourned, the THDA chairman had charge of the group. The following three delegates were elected to attend the State Convention at Galveston: Mrs. Bernice Charles, Mrs. Graham Young and Mrs. Bob Terrry. Alternates are: Mrs. Buck Angell, Mrs. Theo Fuchs and Mrs. I. Smith.

Each guest selected a card and his piece of cake was cut around it. Ice cream was served with the cake slices.

Attending the party were LaNelle and Annette Russell, Janice and Glenn Hughes, Peggy and Richard Moseley and Ray Baggerly.

Among the attractive gifts Wilson received for his birthday was a cake shaped like a little lamb. The white lamb's wool was made of coconut, his eyes of raisins, and his mouth and nose of frosting. He sat on a lawn of green icing. The lamb cake was baked for Wilson by Mrs. John Michna.

Heart O' Texas Fair Competition Open to Girls, Too

It's the junior livestock show and not the boys' show, as originally announced, for the Heart O' Texas Fair.

Which means that girls as well as boys are eligible to compete.

"So many persons expressed the wish that girls be allowed to participate," said Executive Vice President, M. D. Corbin, "that the change was decided on. After all ,the purpose of the fair is to serve the needs and meet the wishes of the public, insofar as is possible."

The change will increase the interest in that division of the fair, in the opinion of General Superintendent Othel Neely.

The junior show, steers, lambs, pigs, and dairy calves is open to Texas boys or girls provided the prospective exhibitor is a member of the Future Farmers or the 4-H Clubs. In the broiler show, any FFA or 4-H member whether a Texan or not, can compete.

Deadline for entries is Aug. 26 and entry blanks may be obtained by writing to Livestock Superintendent, Heart O' Texas Fair, PO Box 3005, Waco, Texas. Dates of the fair are Sept. 26 through Oct. 4.

Auto Inspection Is Modified Under New Motor Vehicle Law

The new period, during which Texas motorists will be required to have their auto inspected under the new modified Motor Vehicle Inspection law which was enacted by the recent 53rd Legislature has been unofficially set for September 15, 1953, through April 15, 1954, it was announced Wednesday by Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Garrison said that the State Public Safety Commission has advised him that they will confirm the designation of the new period on August 26, the effective date of the new act.

The old law which aroused much controversial argument during the last session of the Legislature will expire at midnight August 25 and no inspections will be made under its provisions after that date.

Garrison explained that this means that no inspections of any sort will be made between that time and the beginning of the new period on September 15.

The modified law calls for inspection only of brakes, lighting equipment, horns, rear view mirrors and windshield wipers.

"In view of the fact that the inspection stations throughout the state are already set up and equipped to perform this work," Garrison said, "we feel that the full seven months of the new period will afford motorists ample time to have their vehicles inspected."

He urged, however, that car owners not wait too long lest they get caught in a last minute rush to meet the inspection deadline.

Hubert A. Skala Receives Promotion

Cpl. Hubert A. Skala was promoted to his present rank after completing the course of instruction at the First Armored Division Non-Commissioned Officers Academy at Fort Hood. He attended the Academy from May 22 to June 19.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Skala of Route 3, Rosebud, he enlisted in the Army in January of 1952 and was assigned to Camp Breckenridge, Ky., where he receved his basic training with the famed 101st Airborne Division. He is a graduate of Yoe High School.

Southwestern Expects Large Enrollment

An increase in the enrollment for the 114th annual session of Southwestern University, Georgetown, which will begin September 15, is predicted by Miss Pearl A. Neal, registrar of the historic institution.

Advance enrollments indicate that available dormaitory spage will be occupied by students from all sections of Texas, many other states in the Union, and from Egypt, Jordan, Korea, Iraq, Japan, China, and the territory of Hawaii. A number of Korean veterans are expected.

Southwestern is Texas' oldest university, chartered in 1840 by the Republic of Texas.

Watermelon is a good source of Vitamin C, ascorbic acid, which needs to be supplied daily as it is not stored in the body.

Food Specialists Suggest Freezing Surplus Peaches

Certain varieties of peaches are excellent for storing in the home freezer, say foods and nutrition specialists for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. They suggest freezing the Elberta, Dixigen, Hale Haven and the Frank, a cling peach.

Use only sound, ripe peaches for freezing—the fruit should be slightly riper than for canning, but certainly not soft or mushy.

Wash peaches in cold water, peel, and treat to prevent discoloration. Ascorbic acid or citric acid are sold for the latter purpose.

Peaches are best packed in a sugar syrup, although a dry-sugar pack may be used. Cover with syrup in freezing containers, using 3 cups sugar to 4 cups water. Allow about half an inch at the top of the container for expansion.

Label container with kind of peach, type of pack and date.

Information on freezing foods is available at County Extension agents' office. Ask for B-175 FROZEN FOODS, HOW TO FREEZE, HOW TO COOK.

To Cut Down Insect Damage, Use Sprays Before Vacationing

Household insect pests may take advantage of the owner's absence from home to get a lot of dirty work. Vacationists returning home may find the insects in control and damage considerable, says Neal Randolph, entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, unless advanced precautions are taken before closing the house.

The kitchen is always a favorite "hand-out" for household insects and trouble can be avoided by leaving this room clean and free of any traces of food. Cupboards and shelves may be sprayed with a 5 per cent DDT spray to get the stray insects which get into flour, cereals, crackers or dried foods during the hot season.

Chlordane, says the entomologist, is more effective against cockroaches or waterbugs. He recommends using a small amount of 2 per cent chlordane on the baseboard and under the sink or refrigerator and other places where these insects run. He cautions against using this insecticide where food or cooking utensils will be in contact with it.

Cleaning the floors, rugs and upholstered furniture by vacuum is advised to pick up lint, bits of fur, hair or feathers on which insects may live and to also any larva or eggs of insects which may be in the house. Protect rugs by spraying with a DDT spray and use the same material on the baseboards and other places where insects may hide.

If pets are allowed in the house, the cleaning and spraying will take care of the fleas which may hatch from eggs previously dropped from the family cat or dog.

And finally, says the entomologist, it is just good housekeeping to do these jobs before leaving on the vacation.

American Motorists Enthusiastic About Mexican Vacations

American tourists are enthusiastic about vacationing in Mexico, according to a survey recently completed at the Laredo office of the Texas Division of the American Automobile Association by the International Travel Department of the Three-A.

The survey included interviews with more than 400 motorists returning from trips into Mexico.

The travelers spent an average of 14 days "South of the Border," and spent an average of about $14 per day per person.

Nearly all, 98.9 per cent, visited Monterrey; almost as many, 79.8 per cent, visited Mexico City.

Roads were found in good repair by three out of four of the travelers who were pleasantly surprised to find automobile repair service, gasoline, oil, tires and car parts readily available.

Of the group, about 100 thought the prices were low, half thought they were medium, while a few said they found prices quite high.

Nine out of ten found accommodations to their liking with good food and service.

About half agreed Mexican hospitality and courtesy were outstanding;; opinions of the others ranged from "good" to "just fair."

One interesting sidelight was that three out of four of the tourists said they would be interested in traveling all the way to the Panama Canal or beyond on the Pan American Highway when it is completed.

Finally, the Three-A travel survey showed that 95 per cent of the motorists who had visited Mexico would recommend the trip to their friends at home.

The Texas Division of the AAA maintains border stations for the convenience of travelers to Mexico at Laredo, Brownsville, and El Paso.

THE LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER IN FAVOR OF NEW MEAT TENDERIZER, HAS OTHER USES HE THINKS HE COULD PUT IT TO.

Editor's note: The Little River Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm at Marlow, probably is assuming too much power for the latest evidence of scientific progress.

Dear editar:

You can't always tell how far ahead of his times a man is just by lookin at him.

Take me out here on this grown-up-in-weeds-and-Johnsongrass place. You'd think that by lookin around I was at least twenty-five years behind the times, but there's nothin to it. I may be twenty-five years behind in my work, that's true, but I do not intend to stay that way; a year from now I'll be twenty-six years behind, the year after that, twenty-seven. I believe in progress. It's people who stand still that's holdin this country back.

Yet you can't always judge by appearances. Take my cattle. Lots of people have poked fun at my cows on account of they look sorry, and up to now maybe they have been sort of sorry, and I'll admit I haven't seen any cafes with menus advertisin those good Jersey Steer T-Bone Steaks, but I read last night where a couple of men have invented a process for tenderizing meat, and under this new system it may be hard to tell a Jersey steer steak from a Kansas City four-dollar number. Under this progess, as I understand it, all you do is sprinkle the meat with this atomic dust or what ever it is and a stringy roast, the kind a dog would tire out his jaw muscles on tryin to handle, becomes as tender as the right side of a high-priced T-Bone.

Of course, my production-per animal out here may not be so great as it is with these registered cows, the poor-pounds-per-acre of pasture may not be so big, the growth-per-day may not be so fast, but in the final analysis when I sit down to a steak it ain't much concern of mine how long it took the thing to reach my plate or how many miles the calf had to walk to find enough grass to grow up on. Just give me elbow room and keep the salt, pepper and the bottle of tenderizer handy, is all I ask.

However, I ain't too hopeful yet. Some bird is liable to throw a monkey wrench in the thing somewhere, or cows are liable to catch on and develop an immunity to the tenderizer, but I don't intend to change my whole cattle program out here until the thing has been tested out fully, which will take years.

I hope it works, and if it does there may be other fields of endeavor where it might be applied. For example, there are times when a little tenderizer sprinkled on a banker, would be just the thing to help swing a loan. There are merchants who have a tendency to clamp down on my credit, and if this new dope works on one of my cows, it'll work on anything. Looks like it's goin to beat catsup all to pieces.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Federal Job Rights For Korean Veterans

A new law, which extends to new veterans the same government employment rights as the World War II veteran got, will make it easier for Korea vets to get better jobs.

A discharged Korea veteran must apply for a federal job within 90 days after his release from service or after getting out of a service or veterans hospital or after July 1953, whichever is later.

However, a veteran who voluntarily stays on active duty more than four years is not eligible.

Furmon Neal Shuffield entered Newton Memorial Hospital August 3 for medical treatment.
